Mystic

Mystics draw on strange magics. Where their power comes from is often poorly understood. Some say they draw it from the gods, others say demons, some say the void beyond, some say they draw it from the world itself. Whatever its source, mystics are chiefly concerned with the balance of life and death and see undeath as one of the true evils that needs to be destroyed.

Mystic Features

As a mystic, you gain the following class features when you reach the specified levels. These features are listed on the Mystic Features table.

Level 1: Miracles

You are an initiate into the mysteries of mystical powers, allowing you to call upon them to invoke miracles. Miracles allow you to cast mystical spells and power some of your class features.

Invoking Miracles. Miracles are the mystical energy you invoke to cast mystic spells. You start with the ability to invoke two miracles and gain additional ones at levels 2, 5, and 8. You invoke miracles to cast your prepared spells and use some of your class features. Once you invoke a miracle you cannot use it again. You regain one invoked miracle when you finish a short rest and all invoked miracles when you finish a long rest.

Spellcasting Ability. Wisdom is the spellcasting ability for mystic spells. If you make an attack roll with a spell, your bonus is your Wisdom modifier plus your proficiency bonus. The saving throw DC of your spells is 8 + your Wisdom modifier + your proficiency bonus.

Caster Level. When you cast a spell or use a class feature, its effects might be determined by your level. A spell's level must be less than or equal to your level. Many spells have effects, such as damage, that scale up with your level.

Spells Prepared. You start with two spells prepared. You gain additional prepared spells at levels 4, 7, and 10. You can prepare any spell from the mystic spell list, or a spell granted to you by a class feature, with a level less than or equal to your level.

When you finish a long rest, you can replace spells you prepared with different spells of your choice.

Casting Spells. To cast a spell, you must invoke a miracle and choose one of your prepared spells to cast. If you have no miracles remaining, you cannot cast a spell unless it does not require a miracle. Cantrips are an exception to this. You can cast a cantrip without invoking a miracle.

Level 1: Channel Healing

As a magic action, you can invoke a miracle and cause a creature in melee range to regain hit points. You restore 1d8 hit points per level + your spellcasting modifier.

Level 1: Domain

A domain reflects an area of mystical influence. They are too many domains of mystical influence to name, with each culture having their own list. The domain represents where you believe your power comes from.

The mystic domains are listed at the end of this class description. Each domain provides you with a variety of benefits that reflect the nature of the domain. You gain additional domain benefits at levels 3 and 7.

Level 2: Repel Undead

As a magic action, you force all undead creatures within 30 feet of you to make a Charisma save (DC 8 + your spellcasting modifier + your proficiency bonus). If a creature fails the saving throw, it is frightened of you. It is no longer frightened after 1 minute, if it takes damage, or if you end your turn more than 120 feet from it. Creatures affected by this feature typically attempt to flee from you to end the effect.

If a creature succeeds the saving throw, it is immune to this class feature for the next hour.

Invoke Miracle. You can invoke a miracle when you use this class feature. If you do so, it deals 1d10 radiant damage per level to undead creatures that fail their save, or half damage to creatures that succeed their save. This damage does not end the frightened condition early.

Level 3: Domain

You gain an additional benefit from your domain.

Level 4: Ability Score Improvement

You gain a +1 bonus to two abilities of your choice.

Level 5: Mystical Warrior

As an attack action, you can make two weapon attacks. Alternatively, as a magic attack action you can make a weapon attack and use Channel Healing.

Pick a skill you are proficient with or have expertise with. You add your spellcasting modifier as a bonus to all checks made with that skill.

Level 7: Domain

You gain an additional benefit from your domain.

Level 8: Ability Score Improvement

You gain a +1 bonus to two abilities of your choice.

Level 9: Guarded Soul

As a wielder of miraculous and mystical powers, death must struggle to claim your soul. You die after your fifth failed death save rather than after your third.

Level 10: Boundless Healing

When you use Channel Healing on a creature, other creatures of your choice within 30 feet of you regain hit points equal to your level.

Mystic Domains

A domain reflects an area of mystical influence. They are too many domains of mystical influence to name, with each culture having their own list.
