Psionic

Class Handbook

Your trusty class handbook for the Old Scrolls roleplaying game.

A psionic has mastery over mind and matter

Psionic

The psionic harnesses magical powers poorly understood that draw upon the sheer willpower of the mortal soul and mind. They specialize in telekinesis, but also are known to be able to use their mastery over minds and souls to perform even stranger feats of magic.

Psionic Features

As a psionic, you gain the following class features when you reach the specified levels. These features are listed on the Psionic Features table.

Level 1: Psionic Defense

While you aren't wearing armor, your AC is 10 + your Dexterity modifier + your Wisdom modifier.

Level 1: Psionic Power

You have learned to tap into psionic energy, a life force that allows you to complete incredible feats of power.

On your turn as a magic action, you can focus your psionic energy. You gain psi points based on your level as detailed on the Psionic Features table. You can spend those points to activate disciplines. You retain psi points until you spend them or until the start of your next turn.

Some disciplines specify that you take an action when you spend them. These actions are in addition to your normal action and move. Other disciplines specify that you use them on another creature's turn. As long as you have the psi points needed to use the discipline, you can use it.

Other disciplines require a saving throw. The save DC is 8 + your proficiency bonus + your Wisdom modifier.

You gain the Swift Strike psionic discipline and one other discipline of your choice.

Level 1: Psionic Strike

Your unarmed strikes inflict 1d6 force damage. When you make an unarmed strike, you can choose to use your Wisdom modifier in place of Strength to modify your attack and damage rolls.

If you are proficient with a weapon, you can attack with it when you would make an unarmed strike. However, you must replace its damage die with the die granted to your unarmed strike by this feature.

Level 2: Psionic Discipline

You gain an additional psionic discipline. Each time you gain a level, you can swap one discipline you know for another one.

Level 3: Psionic Strike

Your unarmed strikes now inflict 1d8 force damage. Pick one of the following damage types: fire, lightning, or thunder. You can choose to inflict force or the chosen damage type each time you hit a target with an unarmed strike.

Level 4: Ability Score Improvement

You gain a +1 bonus to two abilities of your choice.

Level 4: Psionic Discipline

You gain an additional psionic discipline. Each time you gain a level, you can swap one discipline you know for another one.

Level 5: Psionic Strike

Your unarmed strikes now inflict 1d10 force damage. If you miss with an unarmed strike, the target still takes damage of your strike's type equal to your Wisdom modifier.

Level 6: Psionic Discipline

You gain an additional psionic discipline. Each time you gain a level, you can swap one discipline you know for another one.

Level 7: Psionic Strike

Your unarmed strikes now inflict 1d12 force damage. When rolling damage for your unarmed strike against an object, treat any dice you roll as if they rolled the maximum damage possible.

Level 8: Ability Score Improvement

You gain a +1 bonus to two abilities of your choice.

Level 8: Psionic Discipline

You gain an additional psionic discipline. Each time you gain a level, you can swap one discipline you know for another one.

Level 9: Invigorating Flow

When you focus your psionic energy while you are at half hit points or less, you regain hit points equal to 1d8 + the psi you gained.

Level 10: Master of Psionics

When you focus your psionic energy, you can choose to gain double the psi you normally gain. Once you use this feature, you cannot use it again until you finish a long rest.

Psionic Disciplines

Here are psionic disciplines you can choose from.

Astral Walk

Psionic Discipline

Spend 2 psi on your turn. You can fly until the end of the turn. You fall if you end the turn in midair.

Inevitable Strike

Psionic Discipline

Spend 1 psi on any turn. The next attack you make this turn hits. Roll the attack to see if it is a critical hit.

Kinetic Push

Psionic Discipline

When you hit a target with a melee attack, spend 1 or more psi to push the target up to 10 feet once per psi spent.

Kinetic Slam

Psionic Discipline

When you hit a target with a melee attack, spend 1 psi to knock the target prone. If the target is larger than you, it also takes force damage equal to your level.

Mental Fortress

Psionic Discipline

Spend 1 psi on your turn to gain +2 AC until your next turn. If you already benefit from this discipline's AC bonus, the bonus is instead +1.

Mind Shatter

Psionic Discipline

When you hit a target with a melee attack, spend 1 or more psi. For each psi spent, the target takes psychic damage equal to a roll of your unarmed strike damage die + your Wisdom modifier.

Mind Stun

Psionic Discipline

Spend 4 psi and make an unarmed strike on your turn. If you hit, the target must make a Constitution save. If it fails, it cannot use actions on its next turn. If it succeeds, it automatically succeeds on saves against this discipline for the next hour.

Phase Shift

Psionic Discipline

Spend 1 psi on your turn or at the start of another creature's turn. You move once.

Reactive Ward

Psionic Discipline

When you take damage from an attack, spend 1 psi and roll 1d10 + your Wisdom modifier + your psionic level. Reduce the damage by that amount. If you reduce the damage to 0, you may pick a creature in melee range including the attacker. It takes the original damage.

Silent Mind

Psionic Discipline

Spend 1 psi on your turn. Until your next turn, you are completely silent. While silent in this manner you are hidden, no check necessary, from creatures that cannot see you. You can still make noise if you wish to, but doing so ends this effect.

Swift Strike

Psionic Discipline

Spend 1 psi on your turn to make an unarmed strike as an attack action.

Vital Surge

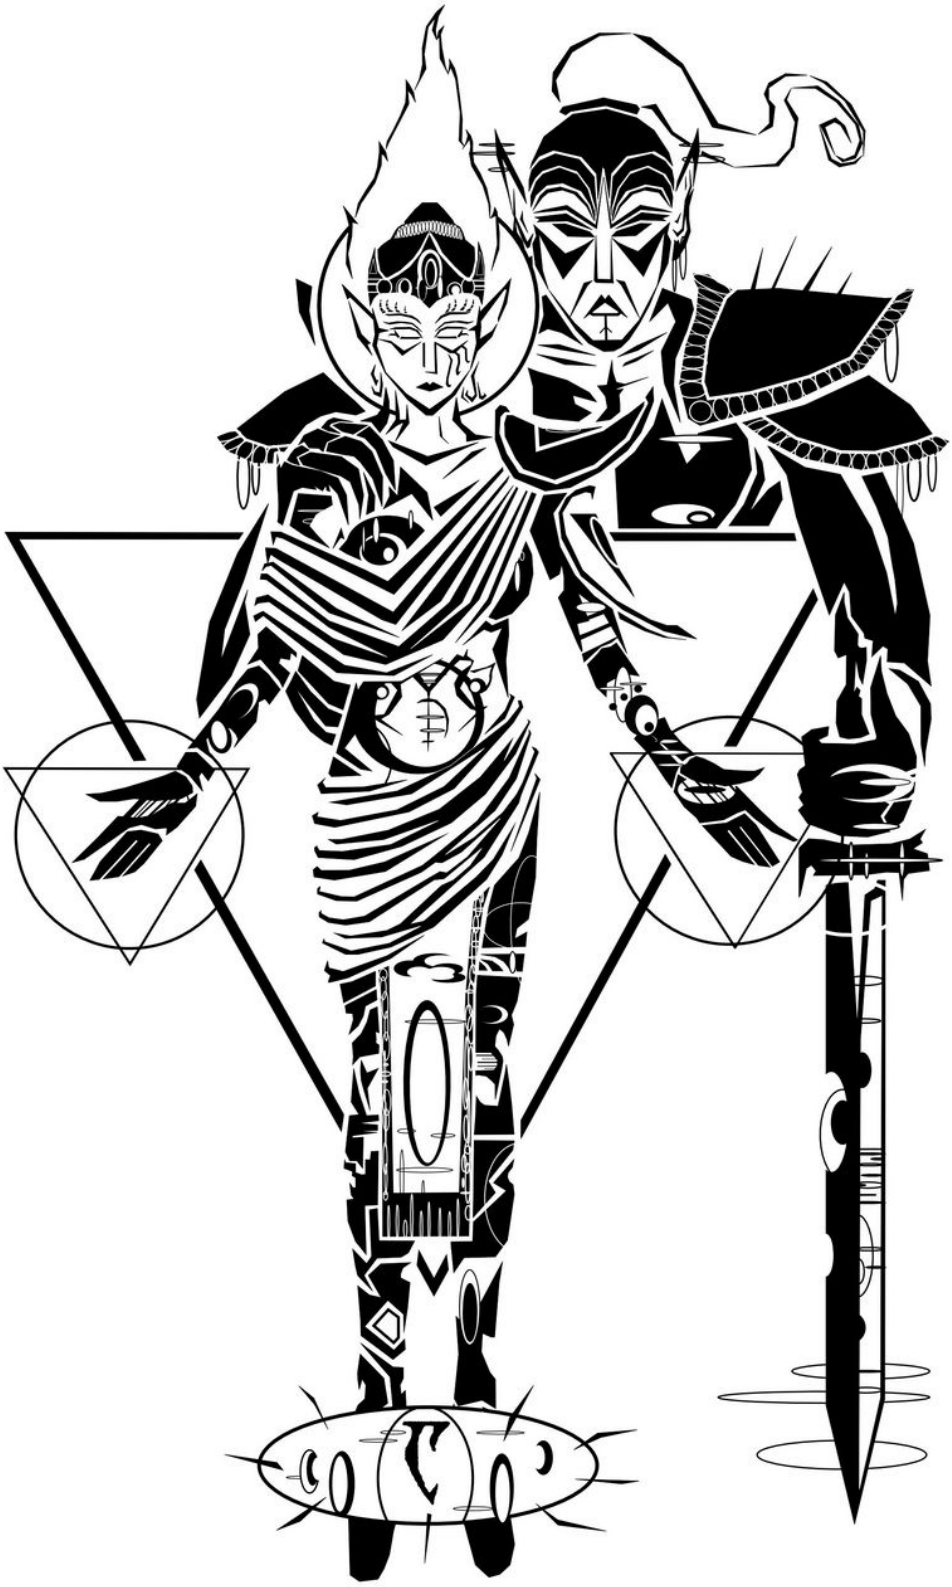

Psionic Discipline

While you are at half hit points or less on your turn, spend 1 psi to regain 1d6 + your Wisdom modifier hit points.

Weightless Step

Psionic Discipline

Spend 1 psi on any turn. When you move this turn, you may move across liquids and along vertical surfaces as part of this move and ignore difficult terrain. You sink or fall at the end of your turn.

A psionic unbound is a threat like no other
