You create a cloud of yellow, nauseating gas that fills a 20-foot-radius sphere centered on a point you choose within range. The cloud provides heavy obscurement.

Each living creature that starts its turn in the cloud must make a Constitution saving throw. On a failed save, it takes 4d6 poison damage + 1d6 per level above 5 and is dazed for that turn. Level: 3
Casting Time: Magic Attack Action

Duration: Concentration

You unravel the primordial bounds of the world to channel a shard of darkness from the great prison where unspeakable, primordial horrors from before the dawn of time are imprisoned. A 20-foot-radius sphere centered on a point you choose within range becomes cloaked in impenetrable darkness. Darkvision can't see through it. If the area is exposed to daylight, this spell ends but all creatures in the area and less than 20 feet from the edge of the area take 4d10 psychic damage as they capture a brief glimpse of the realm from which you drew this darkness.

Creatures treat the area as difficult terrain, as it creates a fear response even among undead or constructs. They must make a Wisdom saving throw using your spell save DC to enter it.

On your turn, you can move the image once up to 30 feet, but it must remain in your sight at all times. The illusion's appearance and effects can change over time as you wish. An illusion might say different phrases or alter its appearance.

- Sound. If you create a sound, its volume can range from a whisper to a scream. It can duplicate any sound you have heard.

Range: 30 feet

The action you take must be simple and quick enough that you can complete it in one action. The spell is precise enough that you can attempt fine manipulation or apply force as needed. Wizard Features

As a wizard, you gain the following class features when you reach the specified levels. These features are listed on the Wizard Features table.

Level 1: Spellcasting

As a student of arcane magic, you have learned to cast spells.

Spellcasting Ability. Intelligence is the spellcasting ability for wizard spells. If you make an attack roll with a spell, your bonus is your Intelligence modifier plus your proficiency bonus. The saving throw DC of your spells is 8 + your Intelligence modifier + your proficiency bonus.

Caster Level. When you cast a spell, its effects might be determined by your level. A spell's level must be less than or equal to your level. Many spells have effects that scale, such as damage, based on your level.

Spells Known. You start with three spells known. Pick or randomly select three spells other than cantrips. When you gain a level, you learn an additional spell from the wizard spell list. Some class features grant you additional spells known.

Spells Prepared. You start with two spells prepared. You prepare spells from among your spells known. You gain additional prepared spells at levels 2, 5, and 8.

Casting Spells. When you cast a spell you have prepared, you can't cast it again until you recharge that spell. You can recharge one spell when you finish a short rest. You recharge all your spells when you finish a long rest.

Swapping Prepared Spells. When you recharge a spell, you can instead choose to prepare a different spell in its place from among those you gained from this class or from wizard spells in spellbooks or scrolls in your possession.

Cantrips. You know two wizard cantrips of your choice. Pick two from the table given later in this section or roll to pick at random, rerolling any duplicates. Unlike other spells, you retain the use of a cantrip after you cast it. You do not have to recharge it. Each time you gain a level, you can swap one or more of your cantrips for different ones. You gain a third cantrip at level 5.

Level 2: School Specialization

As a wizard, you study and master the theories and mathematics behind the forces used to create spell effects. As part of your studies, you unlock deeper secrets. Choose a school specialization. You gain its level 2 benefit.

At levels 4 and 6 you gain additional benefits from your chosen specialization.

Level 3: Sculpt Spells

When you cast a spell, you can choose to reduce the damage it does to creatures of your choice to 0.

Level 4: Ability Score Improvement

You gain a +1 bonus to two abilities of your choice.

Level 4: School Specialization

You gain your school specialization's level 4 benefit.

Level 5: School Mastery

Choose a school of magic. You gain a +1 bonus to your attacks with spells from that school and your save DC for those spells gains a +1 bonus.

Level 6: School Specialization

You gain your school specialization's level 6 benefit.

Level 7: Spell Research

Choose one of your spells that is not a cantrip, subject to restrictions noted below. Your research allows you to customize the spell, making it truly your own. Pick one of the following benefits. You can choose to apply it to that spell when you cast it.

- Echo Spell. You may choose a spell with a level less than or equal to half your level. When you cast this spell, you may cast the spell twice, but a creature cannot be targeted by the spell more than once. If a creature would suffer the spell's effects more than once, the effects of only one casting apply to it. You treat your caster level as half your level when casting the spell.
- Elemental Infusion. If the spell deals damage, you may change that damage's type to one of the following options: acid, cold, fire, lightning, or thunder. When you do so, you gain a bonus to damage rolls with that spell equal to your power during the turn on which you cast it.
- Temporal Weave. You may cast the spell without using your action. Your caster level is reduced to 1 when casting the spell in this way. You may apply this benefit only to 1st level spells. You cannot use this feature while you are prevented from using magic actions.

You choose a second spell to gain this benefit at level 9.

Level 8: Ability Score Improvement

You gain a +1 bonus to two abilities of your choice.

Level 10: Spell Mastery

When you cast a 1st-level spell, you can choose to cast it as if your level was 1. If you do so, you can cast the spell again without needing to recharge it.

Illusory Image

Level: 1

Once per turn, you can cause the image to move once. It alters its appearance as you wish to reflect its movement.

Physical interaction with the image reveals it to be an illusion, since things can pass through it. A creature that examines the image can determine that it is an illusion with a successful Intelligence (Investigation) check against your spell save DC. If a creature discerns the illusion for what it is, the creature can see through the image.

Duration: Instantaneous

This spell repairs a single break or tear in an object you touch, such as a broken chain link, two halves of a broken key, a torn cloak, or a leaking wineskin. As long as the break or tear is no larger than 1 foot in any dimension, you mend it, leaving no trace of the former damage.

- Spell Glyph. You can store another prepared spell in the glyph. When the glyph is triggered, the spell is cast from the glyph without you needing to use a magic action. You control the casting of the spell as normal, except it comes from the glyph rather than you.

When a creature touches the glyph, you may choose to have it trigger the glyph. You are immediately mentally aware of whenever a creature is within the immediate area of the glyph, no line of sight or other senses required.

Hold Portal

Level: Cantrip
Casting Time: Magic Action
Range: 5 feet
Duration: Concentration

You channel power into a door within range, transforming its structure and causing its hinges and handles to fuse into useless shapes. Creatures other than you, and up to one other creature you pick when you cast this spell, must make a Strength (Athletics) check as a utilize action to open it. A successful check ends this spell. The DC equals your spell save DC + your power. You and the chosen creature can open the target door as normal.

Range: Self
Duration: 1 hour

An invisible field of energy surrounds you, deflecting attacks away from you. Your AC is 12 + your spellcasting modifier for the spell's duration.

Level 4. When you are hit by an attack, you can gain a +4 bonus to AC against that attack, potentially turning it into a miss. This benefit lasts until the end of the current turn. Once you use this benefit, you cannot use it again until your next turn.

Level 6. You can use the level 4 benefit twice before your next turn.

Arcane Shadow

Level: 7
Casting Time: Magic Action
Range: 120 feet
Duration: Concentration

Choose a point within range. An invisible, shadowy copy of yourself appears there. It is immune to all damage except force damage, has AC 20, and uses your saving throws. You can see into the copy's location and you gain the benefits of darkvision when peering through it. You can move the copy once on each of your turns. It can fit through a space that is up to 1 inch in diameter. The copy does not need to remain within the spell's range and can enter places you cannot see. As a magic action, you can end the spell and teleport to the shadow's location.

Arcane Slumber

Level: 1
Casting Time: Magic Attack Action
Range: 120 feet
Duration: Instantaneous

Choose a point within range. Each living creature in a 20-foot-radius sphere centered on that point must make a Wisdom saving throw. On a failed save, a creature falls asleep if its current hit points are less than or equal to 4 + 2 per level.

Aura of Vitality

Level: 7
Casting Time: Magic Action
Range: Self
Duration: Concentration

You channel life-giving energy through your soul, allowing it to flow through you and into creatures near you. At the end of each of your turns, you and creatures of your choice within 20 feet of you regain 2d6 hit points. Undead creatures of your choice within that area take 2d6 radiant damage.

Conjured Blizzard

Level: 9
Casting Time: Magic Attack Action
Range: 60 feet
Duration: 1 minute

You conjure a howling gale of cold energy that washes over your enemies in a 60-foot cone emanating from you. Creatures of your choice in that area must make Constitution saving throws. On a failed save, a creature takes 1d8 cold damage per level and cannot move. On a successful save, it takes half the cold damage. A creature unable to move due to this spell can make a Strength (Athletics) check in place of moving on its turn with a DC equal to your spell save DC. On a success, it can move.

Conjure Atronach

Level: Greater Cantrip
Casting Time: Magic Action
Range: 30 feet
Duration: Concentration

You conjure a size Medium atronach that appears within range. The atronach is friendly, rolls initiative, and takes its own turns. You control its actions. The atronach has the following statistics:

- AC. 12 + your spellcasting modifier
- Hit Points. 5 hit points + 2 per level
- Tests. Your spellcasting modifier + your proficiency bonus, with a +0 bonus for Intelligence and Charisma checks.

When the atronach is reduced to 0 hit points, it is destroyed and you must make a DC 15 Constitution save. On a failed save, you choose between taking a failed death save or 15 force damage. The atronach disappears when the spell's duration ends.

When you summon the atronach, pick one of the following options:

- Fire. The atronach has immunity to fire damage. It can make a melee attack that does 2d6 + your proficiency bonus fire damage.
- Frost. The atronach has +4 AC. It can make a melee attack that does 1d8 + your proficiency bonus bludgeoning damage and can push the target.
- Shock. The atronach has a fly speed. It can make a ranged attack that does 1d6 + your proficiency bonus lightning damage and can pull the target.

Level 4. You have advantage on the Constitution saving throw to avoid gaining a death save when the atronach dies.

Level 6. When you cast this spell, you can summon up to two atronachs. You can choose the same atronach type for both or pick two different ones.
